There are only a few days each year when it's okay to eat candy corn. And there are only certain times when it's still okay to do Jell-O shots. Halloween is both one of those days and one of those times. The completely Ebola-free Meatball Shop (which has been regularly doling out post-midnight jello shots for some time now) will be serving candy corn Jell-O shots at all locations for Halloween (Friday October 31).

Andrew Zimmer is Thrillist's NYC Editor and he endorses Jell-O shot-ing on rare occasions, and this is one. Follow him on Twitter and Instagram.
