

WORLD INTERNATIONAL DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

1. INTRODUCTION

Doubles Squash has been played since the 1920s on singles courts in many countries, but in 1992 the WSF AGM approved dimensions of 32 feet (9.75 metres) by 25 feet (7.62 metres) for International Doubles courts and set about the task of promoting International Doubles. The width of the court for elite play at World and Commonwealth Games was increased to 8420mm from April 2008. In July 2012 it was decided that the tin height would be dropped for both men's and women's events to 13 inches (330mm). The aim of the development programme is to achieve the same social and player retention benefits for Squash as experienced in Badminton, Table Tennis and Tennis. As part of the programme to raise awareness of International Doubles Squash the WSF committed itself to staging World International Doubles Squash Championships for Men, Women and Mixed Pairs on a biennial basis. It was agreed that pairs must be from the same Member Nation and that prize money should be paid to encourage top level participation. Hong Kong became the first host of the Championships in 1997, with play taking place on three moving side wall courts plus an International Doubles size glass court.
