

8 Things To Do In NYC This Week

COMMENTS

OCT 27, 2014 10:00 AM
SAMANTHA YU

73 SHARES

Whether you're leaving your Halloween costume to the last minute or have been working hard to frighten all your guests with your haunting decor, you've likely had a hard time avoiding the excitement that surrounds Halloween. And, why would you want to? Haunted houses and dressing up...what's not to love? But, just in case you need a break from candy corn and pumpkins, we've pulled together a list of all NYC has to offer this week, spooky and not.

Wear a costume and get dinner for free.

Thinking of dressing up as a meatball this Halloween? The Meatball Shop likes where your head is and is offering the first 25 customers dressed as meatballs (plus three of their friends, who are NOT required to be dressed as meatballs) dinner and a round of drinks on the house. No strings (or spaghetti) attached.

When: Friday, October 31.

Where: All six The Meatball Shop locations.