

Field Workshop: Action Projects

ICA LA will make its Field Workshop space available for use by artists and community groups dedicated to the movement for change. We will consider short-term projects and activities that focus on learning, civic engagement, and self-care.

Activities and actions could include: meetings; workshops; learning groups; meditation sessions; supplies distribution center; video production; others services.

Projects can range between 1-5 days, beginning the week of July 13th through August, 2020.

Deadlines to submit:

Round 1 for July: submit by June 30; notification by July 8

Round 2 for August: submit by July 17; notification by July 22

ICA LA will provide:

- Field Workshop space and staff support
- Promotion via social media and newsletter (if needed)
- Snacks

Considerations before submitting a proposal:

- Projects must have elements of learning, civic engagement, or self-care and support the movement for social change through such actions as advocacy, resources, training, and service.
- Projects can, but need not be, public-facing. Private gatherings are welcome.
- ICA LA will consider and select projects through an internal review process.
- All partners must abide by the museum's safety protocols. Social-distancing, mask-wearing, and other safety measures will be required.
- Projects must take place within the museum's normal business hours (unless negotiated otherwise).
- Field Workshop is 1400 sq. ft.
- Promotion for the projects, if necessary, must be developed in partnership with ICA LA and all materials approved.
