Where to Eat & Drink on Easter: 8 Options in NYC

By Zagat Staff
April 7, 2014

Easter is just around the corner, and since it's one of the most popular brunch holidays of the year, we've rounded up some of the best options in the city for food and drink - including all-day deals and even a boozy Easter egg hunt just for adults. Whether you want to indulge in a lamb-filled feast or have a casual midday meal, we've got you covered.

The Meatball Shop

The flagship location of this meatball specialist will host a brunch on Easter Sunday from noon to 4 PM. The playful menu features a house spin on classic dishes, such as Balls, Biscuits and Gravy topped with two fried eggs; Balls Benedict, with two poached eggs, bacon, meatballs and hollandaise on a brioche bun; and Smash Bun French Toast served with housemade apple sauce and maple syrup.

In addition, one of the meatball choices for the occasion will be a special Bunny Ball, made of rabbit and seasoned with rosemary, parsley, fennel and white wine. You can try it at all locations of The Meatball Shop on Easter Sunday.
