

→ LOS ANGELES

0

Flavorpill's Guide to the Week's Top 10 LA Events

By Tanja M. Laden on Sep 3, 2013 4:41pm

There's so much going on in the City of Angels, it can be hard to keep track of it all. Thanks to the new Flavorpill, we're inviting the entire community to make suggestions with its gorgeous city-based culture guide — an open platform where our very own editors and curators meet and mingle with artists, gadabouts, and other tipsters for a limitless variety of both ongoing and one-off recommendations. With this in mind, please enjoy our weekly list of hand-picked event suggestions here on Flavorwire, and in the meantime, be sure to check out the new Flavorpill. We'll see you there.

Saturday, September 7

FOOD/WINE: Pop-Up: Roy Choi & NYC's Meatball Shop

Roy Choi collaborates with a pair of his old friends, Daniel Holzman and Michael Chernow of New York City's Meatball Shop, for a night at Choi's Venice resto, Sunny Spot. Expect signature dishes from Meatball Shop's popular menu along with a meatball Choi created especially for the evening. Also, Vans sneakers have designed a limited-edition shoe that guests can win between bites of all the delicious meatballs, salads, and sides. — Karin E. Baker