

food&drink

Where we're going in 2013

► A little less than a month into the new year, many nights of new dining possibilities are ahead of us ► New neighborhood spots to try, expansions of old favorites and the occasional reopening are all within reach ► Your coolness factor will soar once your friends realize you know all the hippest places to try

Expanding

The Meatball Shop

Co-owners Daniel Holzman and Michael Chernow are showing no signs of slowing down. This year, The Meatball Shop takes on Chelsea and Upper East Side, their fourth and fifth locations. Their Chelsea spot will also be the only location in Manhattan to have a full liquor license to date.

200 Ninth Ave.
(February) and 1462
Second Ave. (Spring),
www.themeatballshop.com