

The New York Super Bowl Dining Roster

If you can't make it to the actual game, dine well while you watch it on February 2

January 16, 2014

By Melissa Kravitz

Special Contributor

The odds of scoring a pair of tickets to the Super Bowl, to be held at MetLife Stadium on February 2, are slim to none, but the odds of eating well during it are very high. We've rounded up the best Super Bowl restaurant deals in the city, whether they're great spots to watch the game, places to dine well before and during the game, or restaurants offering special take-away packages. Check back often, as we'll be keeping it updated as the big game approaches.

The Meatball Shop (multiple locations) is helping football fans out this year with their "Bucket O' Balls," available at all five location from 1/31 until 2/4. For just $45, you can take out 25 balls paired with a sauce of their choosing including the very popular and timely, Buffalo Chicken Meatballs with Blue Cheese Dressing.