

We Followed Berlin's 030 Crew as They Tested Out...

The Weeknd Drops Another New Song, Titled "False..."

Vans Confirm Much-Rumored Collaboration...

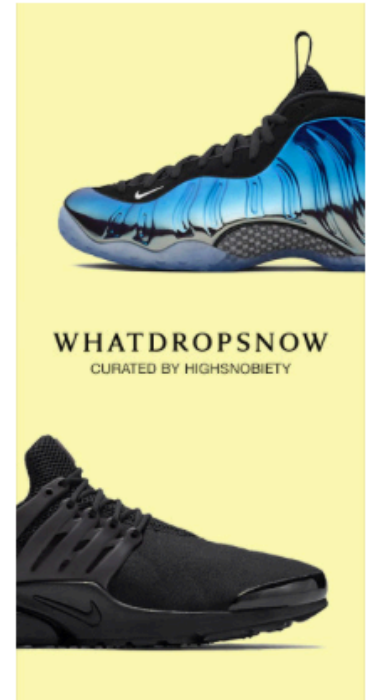

Kim Kardashian Talks About Life With Kanye, Ending...

10 Things You Need to Know Before Watching...

Here's a Closer Look at the BAPE x adidas NMD_R1

Vans Teams With The Meatball Shop on New Sk8-Hi Collaboration

By Marcus Cho in Sneakers 7 hours ago 0 Comments

Share Tweet Email Comments

Vans and The Meatball Shop are teaming up to launch a brand new collaboration based on its classic Sk8-Hi model.

The design features the iconic Vans checkerboard print with sketches of animated meatballs on the quarter panels, and was directly designed by The Meatball Shop's owner Daniel Holzman and Vans VP Steve Van Doren. Additionally, The Meatball Shop branding can be found sitting on top of a black base on the heel of the shoe, as the entirety of the shoe's upper sits on a clean white sole.

The shoes have already released online at The Meatball Shop's official site, and will also be available at The Meatball Shop locations.

MOST POPULAR

Watch Katy Perry Strip Naked in a Voting Booth

adidas & Pharrell Will Be Dropping More "Human"

These Are the Best Colorways of the adidas YEEZY Boost

Sneakersstuff CEO Publishes Open Letter to adidas After...

The Weeknd Drops Another New Song, Titled "False Alarm"