Welcome to the Mid-Week Menu, our weekly roundup of East Bay food news.

1) Everyone seems to love a good pop-up dinner these days, and the one that Oakland's Hopscotch (1915 San Pablo Ave.) is hosting in a couple of weeks sounds like a doozy: On Monday, December 3, from 5 p.m. until midnight, the proprietors of NYC's Meatball Shop, Michael Chernow and Daniel Holtzman — formerly the chef at San Francisco's SPQR — will be on hand to cook up a variety of meatballs and Italian heroes. First come, first served.
