

NYC Chefs Share Their Favorite Places to Eat Barbecue

Eater reached out to some of NYC's biggest chefs to find out where they love to eat some 'cue

by Patty Diez, June 17, 2016

f SHARE \(103\) TWEET

Daniel Holzman - Chef/co-owner of The Meatball

Shop: "I like Fette Sau, partially because it's around the corner from my house and partially because the food is absolutely delicious and partially because it's still one of the coolest spots in Williamsburg. Dinosaur Bar-B-Que is also amazing, but a real trip from my place."