

NYC • Culture

Join 'Tasting Table' & The Meatball Shop for Our Monthly Book Club

Bring your intellectual appetite (oh, and your real one, too)

BY TEAM TASTING TABLE
6/8/18

PRINT

SAVE

Book clubs: You've always promised yourself you'd join one but just never "got around to doing it." That's why Tasting Table is collaborating with our friends at THE MEATBALL SHOP to create delicious motivation to read at least one hot book per month.

We're calling it our Naked Book Club, but birthday suits are not the dress code. Instead, each ticket includes a family style dinner of chef Daniel Holzman's famous "naked meatballs" along with seasonal sides and your choice of wine. Food gossip optional.

We'll meet on the last Monday of each month for a spirited (boozy?) discussion of the title, with Tasting Table founder (and book club addict) Geoff Bartakovics leading the conversation.

Join us for our first Naked Book Club on Monday, June 25, at THE MEATBALL SHOP's West Village location to discuss Florida, the red-hot collection of loosely related short stories by New York Times best-selling author Lauren Groff. All your smart friends are already talking about it, since her last book, Fates and Furies, was a smash hit, too. But no fears: If you forget to bring your intellectual appetite, you'll still have your real one to fall back on.

Get Naked Book Club tickets from THE MEATBALL SHOP here.