

TRENDWATCH

These Are Supposedly the Five 'Hottest Foodie Trends'

Friday, May 13, 2011, by Paula Forbes

Budget Travel takes a look at what those crazy foodies are into these days, and comes up with five trends including urban foraging (which has been around for awhile already), night markets, and single-item restaurants are also on the list (citing New York's Meatball Shop and Chedd's Gourmet Grilled Cheese, in Austin).

Also two trends of a more dubious nature:

bicycle cafés (hybrid repair shop cafés) and "Rent-a-Tree" programs, in which you sponsor a tree on a farm and receive all of its fruit. So kind of like a CSA? But with just one type of food.

· The 5 Hottest New Foodie Trends in the U.S. [Budget Travel]

· All Trends Coverage on Eater [-E-]

Chedd's Gourmet Grilled Cheese, Sioux Falls, South Dakota. [Photo: Chedd's / Facebook]

Bicycle Cafes

Foraging

Night Markets

Single-item Restaurants

Trends

Trendwatch

f Like 5