

How Sweet It Is: New York's Top Holiday Treats

Posted by Sarah Zorn on Dec 17, 2015 in Best Of, Christmas Eats, Dessert, Holiday Eats | 0 comments

f Share 6 t Tweet G+1 Pint it in Share 0 ✉ 🗨

Thanksgiving and Hanukkah over-indulgences may have left you desperate to start a diet, but isn't that's what New Year's resolutions are for?

Until then, you might as well embrace the season by gorging yourself silly on extra-festive sweets, from The Meatball Shop & Ovenly's "Boozy Rudolph" Sundae Collaboration to Balthazar Bakery's Stollen & Dominique Ansel Kitcher's shimmery Christmas Tree Cake!

The Meatball Shop

84 Stanton St
Lower East Side, New York
10002
(212) 982-8895

Available throughout

December, The Meatball

Shop's "Boozy Rudolph" collaboration with Ovenly begins with the creative Greenpoint bakeshop's chocolate salted caramel brownie. It's topped with chef Daniel Holzman's very own vanilla ice cream & caramel sauce, and finished with a cherry that's been brandied in-house. Let it guide your way to each one of the meatball specialist's six locations this season!