

EAT AND DRINK

The best lunch in Chelsea

By MELISSA KRAVITZ August 25, 2014

Picture this:

It's midday. You've been working hard for hours at your job, and all you want is a delicious lunch to reward yourself (or to help you nurse off your hangover!) But there's a problem: deciding what to eat for lunch can be hard! There are either too many options, too few options or uncertainty about the quality and taste of what you're getting. But we're here to help.

Here's our highly-curated list of lunch spots in Chelsea.

The Meatball Shop

Meatballs, 200 9th Ave., 212-257-4363

This quick sit down restaurant lets your order right on the menu with an erasable marker-- making it all the quicker to get your meatball sub, sliders or spaghetti on your lunch break. The Meatball Shop's daily specials keep the menu interesting if you're going to become a regular, but it's hard to get sick of classics like spicy pork meatballs in mushroom cream sauce.

Range: $8-13

(Credit: Facebook/TheMeatballShop)