

Parm; New York City

Evoking old-school Little Italy joints, Mario Carbone and Rich Torrisi's Parm serves the best meatball parm: juicy, meaty, saucy and cheesy.
—F&W Editor-in-Chief Dana Cowin

"When the public goes into a frenzy over something like a cupcake or a meatball, it may be annoying to us jaded foodie observers, but at the end of the day, a meatball can be a pretty damn good thing," says chef-author-TV host Anthony Bourdain.