About Last Night: The Band of Outsiders/Bon App Dinner Extraordinaire

BY ANDREW RICHALE

Before this happened, we rolled over to the Band of Outsiders after-party dinner that Bon Appétit EIC/former GQ Style Editor/All-Around Great Guy Adam Rapoport hosted with the gang at the Meatball Shop in the West Village. If there's one thing Rapo knows, it's how to host a party with style and ease. The Dewar's cocktails were stiff. The food filling and generous—unlike most fashion parties where everyone's afraid to eat more Tic Tacs than the guy next to them. The greatest thing, though, was the eclectic mix of guests. The crowd was a reflection of the Sternberg psyche—warm but witty, sharply-dressed, and down to clown with ice-cream sandwiches. In fact, those were good enough that we ate 1.5 of them. No guilt, yo!
