

The Ten: Late Night Eats

With over 3,000 restaurants in NYC and only three meals a day, how do you choose your food wisely? We've foraged through the five boroughs tasting everything we can get our mouths on, and these are The Ten favorites (for right now).

It's 2am on a Friday night, and you have the drunchies. Late night pizza is always an option, but sometimes, you want something a little more – Blue Ribbon fried chicken, a really good burger, or maybe even oysters. Sate your late night food cravings at one of these restaurants, all open until 2am or later on Friday and Saturday nights.

The Meatball Shop

With several locations in the city and in Brooklyn, The Meatball Shop serves up late night beef, chicken, pork and veggie balls, all customized with your pick of sauce in sliders, heroes, salads, and more. Open until 4am on weekends.