SINGLE INBOX

Your voicemail messages are automatically synchronized with your e-mail inbox. You can listen to messages directly from your computer or smartphone, delete them, or save them for future reference.

- Voicemail messages display in your Inbox as either the employee who called or as "PUHSD Voicemail" if from an external caller. The attachment is an audio file; play it to hear the message.
- Deleting the e-mail message moves it to your Deleted Items folder and also removes the voicemail from your phone.
- Messages will be auto-deleted from your phone, Inbox and Deleted Items folder after 30 days.
- Messages moved to another folder OUTSIDE of your Inbox or Deleted Items folder will not be auto-deleted from your mailbox (although it will still be removed from your phone).
- E-mails with voicemail attachments are much larger than text-only messages and will consume more space in your mailbox. As with any e-mail it is highly recommended that you only save messages if necessary.
- If your e-mail mailbox exceeds the 2GB limit you will be unable to send e-mail.
