This year sees New York's The Meatball Shop teaming up with Vans for the fourth time, this time coming together to introduce a special edition of the classic Sk8-Hi. Marked by suede and canvas construction, the black and white design sees Vans' iconic checkerboard motif customized by The Meatball Shop's Daniel Holzman and Vans' own Steve Van Doren as they add animated meatball sketches to the checkered quarter panels. Additional Meatball branding also appears on the heel of the shoe, as well as the co-branded insoles.

Retailing for $65 USD, the limited-edition kicks are available online now while supplies last.
