

Home > New York Restaurants > Photo > Top ice cream sandwiches in NYC

Top ice cream sandwiches in NYC

0 comments | Add Your Own

7 of 9

◀ prev next ▶

The Meatball Shop

Expectant diners mob this single-minded Lower East Side restaurant at all hours for the comfort food of the moment: meatballs. Those who save room for dessert—and you should—will discover a mix-and-match list of ice cream sandwiches.

Five cookies and four ice creams, are all made in-house by Donna Chernow, wife of manager and co-owner Michael Chernow. The brownie, which is more of a cookie, is crammed with white and milk chocolate chunks. The brown discs pair well with the herbal, lightly sweetened mint ice cream flecked with green leaves. Ordered to go, the multi-napkin goodie is wisely packed in a box with a plastic fork. Once it hits the outside air, it's a hot mess. ($4)

The Meatball Shop
84 Stanton St., 212-982-8895

RELATED ITEMS:

- Oddball frosties in NYC
- Outdoor dining in NYC

Email | Print View | Share | Report This Photo | + Enlarge Photo