

FREE STUFF

DRESS LIKE A MEATBALL THIS HALLOWEEN TO GET FREE MEATBALLS

BY NOAH KAUFMAN | OCT 24 2014

Do you like meatballs? Are you not easily embarrassed? Great news, you can combine those two traits to get free food on Halloween. If you or one of your impressionable friends show up at the Meatball Shop in New York dressed as a meatball on October 31 you get free food, including dessert for four people and a round of drinks. Those especially moved by the Halloween spirit can even pop candy-corn inspired Jell-O shots—looks like candy corn, tastes like a creamsicle.

There are just two other requirements. You have to be one of the first 25 meatballs into the shop—but there are now six locations so you can just keep running around in your meatball outfit until you find one that will take you.

You also have to actually dress like an authentic meatball. No T-shirts with pictures of a meatball, no circulars from the Ikea food section taped to your forehead. Your body must be covered in some meatball shaped article of clothing. Or 100 loofas you've colored brown. Anything that evokes a meatball. Also remember this offer is only good on Halloween. If you dress like a meatball any other day of the year that is purely for your own enjoyment.