Snow day specials: Drinks, food and more deals

By amNY.com staff March 14, 2017

If Tuesday's snowstorm already has you suffering from cabin (or apartment) fever, New York City's bars and restaurants are here to help.

With many New Yorkers taking a day off from work (and younger ones from school), local spots are stepping up with ways to fill your time -- from adult activities like drinking hot toddies and slurping oysters to more kid-friendly hot chocolate specials.

Here's a look at some of the deals around the city for those rugged enough to brave the storm.

The Meatball Shop

Nothing is quite as perfectly warming as a good hot toddy and a spiked hot chocolate. The Meatball Shop is serving its hot toddies for just $5.50 and a whiskey hot chocolate for $9. All kids can enjoy a regular hot chocolate for free with their meal. (Multiple locations, Manhattan and Brooklyn, themeatballshop.com)
